FOR IMMEDIATE RELEASE:

NOLLEN TO DISCUSS PARASITIC DISEASES

CHARLESTON, IL--What progress, if any, is being made in controlling such parasitic diseases as malaria will be the topic of a presentation by Paul Nollen, Board of Governors Universities Distinguished Professor, Thursday, April 16, at Eastern Illinois University.

Nollen was selected last June as the 1991-92 BGU Distinguished Professor, the most prestigious faculty honor in the five-university system.

NOLLEN

The Western Illinois University professor of biological sciences and internationally recognized parasitologist will speak at 7:30 p.m. Thursday in Roberson Auditorium, Lumpkin Hall. His topic is "Parasitic Infections: Winning or Losing the Battle?"

The public is invited to the free lecture and to participate in a question and answer session and reception with Nollen after his lecture.

Nollen will visit EIU science classes and interact with students and faculty before his lecture.
